

HABC Level 3 Award in Education & Training

Course Introduction

The HABC Level 3 Award in Education and Training is a foundation qualification for those looking to teach in further education. Formerly known as PTLLS, this now acts almost as a direct replacement. Like all of our education and training qualifications, the names and content have been modified to properly link with the Regulated Qualifications Framework (RQF)

Course Topics

- Introduction to Teaching
- Roles & Responsibilities
- Training & Session Plans
- Catering for different Learning Styles
- Delivery Techniques
- Inclusive Learning & Teaching
- Individual Learning & Development
- Group Learning & Development
- Understanding Assessment
- Principles & Practice of Assessment

Course Benefits

The level 3 award is an entry-level qualification and considered the minimum qualification required to teach within FE colleges, private training organisations and even local authorities. In England, this is already mandatory.

Whether delivering training on an in-house basis or freelancing, this should be considered essential. Anybody wishing to deliver accredited training will also require this training to be linked with any awarding organisation.

The awarding body Highfield issue all certificates via PDF format. This will be emailed to the course booking contact on successful completion of the course, once received from Highfield.

Assessment Method

Portfolio Based: Continuous Assessment, 20 Minute Micro-teach, assignment & self evaluation
